THIS is the month of at-homes, and, personally. I'd rather be at home than anywhere else in this kind of weather, weuldn't you? A lot of people feel the same way I do, and they have announced their dates, although not mary of them have sent out cards. Mrs. Samuel Price Wetherill was at home yesterday at 251 South Eighteenth street, and today several people will receive. Mrs. Henry Sulger Jennes and Margaretta have sent out cards for today, from 4 until 6, at their home, 2012 Spruce street. Margaretta is one of this year's would have been debutantes who are doing much good work for war relief. We may have lost a lot of attractive debs this year, but we certainly have gained an enthusiastic crowd of workers for Red Cross, Emergency Aid. Motor Messenger Service and the like, Mrs. David English Dallam will be at home to day in Germantown and Mrs. Alan Hartwell Strong, of Twenty-first and De Lancev streets, will also receive from 4 until 6.

THE weekly meeting of the Oversons A Committee of the Emergency Aid this morning the mest important thing discossed was the new Service Shop, which will open for sure next week in the store adjoining the present quarters of the committee in the Ritz. According to Mrs. John C. Norris and Mrs. Harry W. Harrison, who are in charge of the Service Shop committee, this little store will be just what we have all been longing for, Exerything sold there will be of very maperior quality and the prices will be most moderate. It sounds almost too good to be true, but I have it on the very best authority. Just think of being able to buy the best grade of wool at the lowest price and at the same time help our soldiers and sail ers by sending them more sweet stuff and And that's just what you'll be foing when you buy at the Service Shop. for there are in overhead expenses at all, every bit of the work being volunteer, and all the proceeds will go straight to the Overseus Committee.

Besides all the conceivable varieties of carn, all the little knitting accessories, such as predies, sock stretchers and wool winders, will be for sale. More than that, every member of the committee in charge has donated at least one bug to the shop, and let me tell you there are some beauties among the lot. You had better do your shopping early if you really want to get one, because I know they will ge like hoteaker. If there is by any chance any woman anywhere who doesn't know how to knit, the Service Shop will give her an opportunity to learn, for free les sons in knitting will be given every Mon day, Wednesday and Friday in the after

As an extra added attraction-what don't people think of these days? there will be a whole barrel of sugar for sale on shares. Those who will work with Mrs. Norris and Mrs. Harrison in conducting the new undertaking are Mrs. Charles Randolph Mrs. Charles Randolph Wood.
Mrs. Benjamin Chew. Mrs. George Dallas.
Dixon, Jr., Mrs. Antele Devereux, Mrs.

Denckia and Mrs. Samuel D. Lit. At the general meeting it was announced that the Pittsburgh branch of the Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania had just sent a large shipment of Jam and a check for $220.421.
Another pleasing little announcement was that the Pen and Pencil Club intends to give the proceeds of its annual entertainment, "A Night in Bohemia," to the Overseas Committee. Snowden, Mrs. Charles Randolph Wood,

THRIFT LUNCHEON AT NORWOOD CLUB

Guests at Celebration of Eighth Anniversary of Century Club Presented With Thrift Cards

With Hoover urging food economy and thrift being practiced in one way or another by almost every person, it is not surprising in the least to hear of a thrift luncheon being given. On the occasion of its eighth anniversary, the Century Club of Norwood held an annual luncheon at the home of Mrs. Charles K Weston yesterday afternoon. The nature of the thrift which had been practiced was a secret to the guests until, at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. Weston presented to Was a secret to the guests until, at the close of the afternoon, Mrs. Weston presented to each one of them a thrift card with one stamp on it, which had been purchased with money saved from the total charges of the function. She thus proved that a most delicious menu could be served more economically than would have been thought possible.

Naturally, every woman who received one of the thrift cards will want to fill it with stamps, so the luncheon brought quite a bit of thrift with it and surely deserved its name. thrift with it and surely deserved its name. During the afterpoon the guests were entertained with music and Mr. Weston, who is deling publicity work for the thrift cards in the State of Delaware, gave a short talk on the subject of these cards. The "Star Spansied Banner" and other patriotic songs were sung, and each guest came away feeling that she had spent a worthwhile afternoon.

School play and dance leave been turned over to the athletic association and the class activities funds. Full of patriotic spirit this year the senior class, the recipient of the largest portion of the proceeds, will turn its share over to the Red Cross.

This year's performance will be the last appearance of Mr. Frank Bruder as an amateur actor. I'r. Bruder has appeared as principal in every entertainment and play given by the Trades School as well as in many church and club entertainments throughout this city and has a large following. His work as an entertainer has been good enough to bring him to the attention of a New York firm of preducers, and he will appear in a few weeks in an actuader als name instead of taking up work in his trade. Mr. Bruder, however, admits that he is sorry for the vaudevillan who does not have a trade, as he mys it is always something to fall back upon and give one a different attitude toward life. Those who attended the luncheon were Mrs. G. Howard Lundy, Mrs. Alfred A. Crooks. Mrs. Frank Sentman, Mrs. Arthur G. Chew. Mrs. Frank Sentman, Mrs. Arthur G. Chew. Mrs. Albert Cross, Mrs. George B.
